Final Recital R. M. I. Graduates

Despite the heavy downpour of rain and the disagreeably cool temperature which accompanied it, one of the largest audiences of the year assembled in the hall of the Randolph-Macon Institute to greet three graduates whose recital was the last of the series of such pre-commencement features at this school. The three graduates entertaining were Miss Jane Douthett Riddle, piano, pupil of Mrs. J. B. Thomasson; Miss Louise Cary Johnston of East Radford, Va., piano pupil of Miss Gates, and Joseph Clinton White of this city, violin, pupil of Miss Marie L. S. Conner.

Each of the performers was assigned three numbers, or rather three groups of selections in the well varied program, which were marked by artistic contrasts both in variety and arrangement. It may be of additional interest to add that Mr. White on this occasion played a violin which was made by H. S. Miller, of this city, this instrument dividing the splendid handling of it by the performer. The superior tone of this instrument and its well balanced tonal qualities were the subject of commendation by experts in the use of the violin.

Miss Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Riddle of this city, opened the entertainment with her best number and withal one of the most brilliant of the whole program. She played the Mozart Concerto in D minor, the allegro moderato movement with excellent technique and even with brilliancy, her teacher, Mrs. Thomasson rendering the orchestral accompaniment on second piano. This is a delicate, artistic and brilliant composition and one calling for delicate touch and unusual skill and confidence.

Her second number or group of numbers included a descriptive prelude by Dett, entitled "Night," a tone yet beautiful and meditative. Following this, Miss Riddle played Saint Saens' "The Swan," a difficult piece of technique requiring some skillful and rapid work with the left hand. This was followed by "Bagatelle," a selection with the tinkling, whimsical and varied melody of the Spanish type, and she closed the group with Porter's Second Mazurka, a composition marked by style and brilliancy, qualities well developed in the young performer's rendition.

Miss Riddle's final number was the imaginative and beautiful Beethoven Sonata Pathetique, with its alternation of slow and majestic with the fast tempo, which she played unusually well. Miss Johnston's debut number was a Grieg sonata, the moderato portion, in the rendition of which she demonstrated true musicianship, playing in with beautiful rhythm and in hand-some style. She opened the second part of the programme with a group of four selections—MacDowell's "To a Water Lily," Jensen's "Murmuring Zephyrs," Sibelius' "Romance" and a Goddard Mazurka. The group constituted a varied test of musicianly work. The MacDowell number being a study in expression, while the Jensen selection offered scope for brilliant technique and skilled left-hand work. The Sibelius number was the climax in the test of technique and in subtle difficulties. The Goddard number is a brilliant piece of composition and a severe test, but the performer showed fine adaptability, and conception of the mood of each. She rendered the programme with a fine rendition of the allegro animato movement from Mendelssohn's Concerto in D Major, the same work from which Miss Riddle had rendered the first number at a different movement. She was accompanied by Miss Gates, the teacher who played the orchestral parts on another piano. The composition is melodic and beautiful and it provides scope for difficult runs. The performer's work in this number particularly was admirable.

Mr. White, a young violinist of much talent and enthusiasm, and a earnest student played a group of selections on his first appearance, the first being a new composition, the Melody in A Major, by General Daves. This was followed by the familiar but difficult Bohm's Characteristic of Ovid Musini, the Belgian composer, which as its title suggests is technically difficult with its fast bowing and its continuousness, but the young man acquitted himself handsomely. His last number in the group was the beautiful Concerto in A Major. The beautiful serenade with its double stops and its fine tone is always popular and was well received last night. His third number was Bohm's Capriccio in F major, Variations providing scope for all the effects of violin technique and of harmonic double stops. The excellent playing of this was the climax of the performer's work for the evening.

DRUMMER COULD NOT MEET TEST
The following story emanating from Roanoke is going the rounds of the state papers:
A local traveling man was stopping at Danville for a few days and while there he had an old acquaintance come on the phone who invited him to come out to his house for supper. The traveling man went.

It came time for supper. The family were seated at the table and his friend's wife said: "Will you please say grace, Mr. B?" This was all unexpected and Mr. B. was not equal to the occasion. He hesitated and haved a few seconds and then replied: "You will have to pass me this time. I am a Catholic, and I am not prepared for this ordeal." At this the outraged hostess got up and left the room while the traveling man turned a crimson color. He was cured. He said that they would have to "sock and rock" him the next time anyone wanted him to come out for supper.

"BLOOD MOTHER" DECIDES TO SELL ANOTHER PINT OF BLOOD

MRS. CARRIE MCFEELEY

BY ROY GIBBONS

CHICAGO, May 19.—Once again the "blood mother" is preparing for another sacrifice for her children's sake.

Sorrow of a million years peers from the eyes of Mrs. Carrie McFeeley.

Her hands are worn with toil. Three times now has she sold a pint of blood from her veins.

Sold, so she could keep her six children with her and help pay off the furniture mortgage in her $8-a-month flat.

For the three punts Mrs. McFeeley received $105—enough to keep the wolf from the door a few weeks. But recently another baby arrived.

It is because this newcomer needs clothing that the blood mother has decided to sell another pint of her blood.

Neighbors have tried to dissuade her. They have advised her to appeal to the charities.

But Mrs. McFeeley is proud. "I have myself to give. And I will do that gladly," she says.

"My children are more to me than life. If I should die on the operating table, trying to help them, it will be doing my duty as a mother."

At night the blood mother works as a charwoman. The father, disheartened by sickness, left his brood months ago and has not been heard from.

MILITARY DAY AT C. T. S. SATURDAY

On Saturday, May 20, at 2:30 p. m. the Chatham Training school will hold its annual military field day. These events will terminate the competition between the two companies in the race for the silver loving cup, which is awarded annually by the commandant to the most proficient company.

One of the most interesting features of the program will be the sham battle, which will represent the type of open warfare used by the U. S. in the late war. The sponsors of the respective officers are expected to be present. The cup and other awards will also be presented on the field to the winners.

The program, in detail, is as follows: Committee—Major E. L. Miller, chairman; Captain R. V. Bell, Captain H. L. Arthur, 1st Lieut. C. E. Kite, 1st Lieut. L. G. Channing.

Sponsors—Miss A. D. Smith, Miss Marguerite Motley, Miss Marie Newbill, Miss Lillian Ring, Miss Mary Hunter Jones.

Judges—Major C. M. Crawford, R. O. T. C. officer, 3rd Corps Area, Dr. T. R. Sanford, Colonel B. C. Goode, Colonel A. H. Camden, Hon. J. H. Hargrave, Jr., Captain W. L. Davis, Lieut. W. S. Rison, Captain H. G. Oliver.

Program—1. Competitive Company close order drill. 2. Competitive drill (manual of arms). 3. Bayonet combat. 4. Wall scaling. 5. Tug of war. 6. Sham battle. 7. Boxing. 8. Shot. 9. Silent drill. 10. Presentation of military cup. 11. Battalion parade.

One of the most conspicuous accomplishments of the battalion this year, is the organization of a rifle team. This is something new in the history of the military department at this school. The wonderful success of the team is due primarily to the untiring efforts of Major R. L. Furdon, coach and organizer, and Captain H. L. Arthur. Each member deserves special commendation for his keen interest and determination to make the excellent record which has been made. The championship of the 3rd corps in the 3rd corps area, in the rifle team, was easily won. In recognition of this victory the school was awarded a silver loving cup. By winning this match, the school was made eligible to compete in the national inter-collegiate match.

Mr. Crawford, assistant R. O. T. C. officer, who inspected this school May 10 and 11, rendered a very favorable report, stating, in short, that he was well pleased at the showing made by the cadet corps and conditions in general.

J. W. FRETWELL WEDS MISS TOSH AT RICHMOND, VA.

RICHMOND, Va., May 18.—Miss Rhoda Chastaine Tesh of Richmond, and Julian Walker Fretwell, of Danville, were married this (Thursday) afternoon at two o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Richmond, Virginia, Rev. W. Russell Borer, rector officiating. Only the immediate families of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony. Miss Tesh, who has lived in Richmond since childhood, is a daughter of the late James T. Tesh and Mrs. Ida Randall Tesh, and a granddaughter of the late Reuben F. Randall, of Petersburg, where she lived as a child. She is well known in Richmond and Danville and is a woman of great charm and attractiveness.

Mr. Fretwell is a prominent business man of Danville, where he is secretary-treasurer and general manager of the Merchants Supply Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Fretwell left this afternoon for the east. They will be at home in Danville after June 15.

Distillery and Two Men Caught By U. S. Officers

A most important capture of a complete distillery and two men was made by the Internal Revenue officers who have been working for the past six weeks in and about Danville. Morison Barley, Jr., a large property-holder of the Riceville neighborhood and William Coleman, colored, his assistant, were caught with the still boiling and the "liquid fire" running out through the heavy rains. Officers Chamberlain, Diring, May and W. T. Shelton pushed their way through the muddy roads 35 miles to Riceville. There they struck the trail and penetrated the pines until they reached a cleverly concealed nook where the moonshining was in progress. The officers were able to detect the location by the faint smell of smoke and carefully moved up until they were within a few feet of the still before the operators discovered their presence.

When the still was rushed Coleman could only stand speechless, but Barley was fleet of foot and short of retreating clothing and made a good start to get away. His "stirling" costume comprised of a pair of overalls and a shirt that resembled more of an athlete's apparel than anything else, and was an inspiration to a 100 yard dash. He hurled a fence and started through the brush in excellent form, but Mr. Diring was too quick for him. Mr. Diring was considered the fastest man on the track and over the hurdles at his school and his performance after the "moonshiner" showed clearly that he had not forgotten his training. Barley started with a 25 yard lead but in another 50 yards Mr. Diring reached out and caught a good hold on practically his only garment and the race was over.

The men were both at work at a 60 gallon copper still. They had nearly finished their run and from the condition of the coats, sacks and tenting that were placed about the still had paid no attention for many hours to the inclemency of the weather. The complete outfit, comprising the still, cap and worm, fake stand, doubler, fermentors, tubs and buckets, hoes and axes and all of the paraphernalia that go with an up to date stilling equipment was destroyed and burned. The prisoners were taken to Chatham and waived preliminary hearing before Magistrate Collier. They were held in $500 bond each for appearance before the grand jury to convene in July next.

A number of complaints of conditions in the Riceville section have been received recently by the officers, and on one or two previous raids into the neighborhood Barley was warned to stop moonshining or he would be caught. To use his own words "Well, they've got the old boy at last" expresses the case.

HAYS IS ELECTED THE MODERATOR

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 18.—The Reverend Dr. C. Hays, for 31 years pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Johnstown, Pa., was elected moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America at this afternoon session of the 134th general assembly here.

Dr. Hays was elected on the first ballot, receiving 512 votes. Dr. Cleland and McAfee, of Chicago, was a close second, receiving 379 votes. The vote was changed to make Dr. Hays' election unanimous.

WOMAN BLAMED BY HER FAMILY

Restless, irritable, nervous, excitable and exasperating is the charge against her by the nearest and dearest. How little they realize the struggle the overworked wife and mother is making to keep about and perform the hundred and one duties that devolve upon her! Every hour her headaches, backaches and pains drag her down until she can stand it no longer. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored women in this condition to health and happiness than any other medicine. The grateful letters we are continually publishing in this paper from women who have found health by its use prove it—adv.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With

If you want to keep your child's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else at the place. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—adv.

PINCHOT'S LEAD IS MAINTAINED
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 18.—Gifford Pinchot tonight maintained his lead over Attorney General George E. Allen in the return from Tuesday's primary. Revised and additional figures came in slowly but steadily from remote districts in rural and mountainous sections today which raised and lowered the totals for the two candidates. With all but 264 of the 7,934 districts in the State unofficially reported, Pinchot had a lead of 8,467. The total vote so far received gave Pinchot 49,329 and Allen 49,302.

These figures include the complete but unofficial count of Philadelphia and Allegheny which includes the city of Pittsburgh.

Methodists Set Forth Ideals For All Protestants

DES MOINES, Ia. May 18.—Adoption by the affiliated Protestant churches of a declaration of international ideals which would place them on record in favor of a permanent association of nations, of the universal use of courts of justice and boards of arbitration, and of sweeping reduction of armaments, was recommended by the Federal Council of Churches in its report to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States in session here.

Publications of the council, according to its report, have been credited "on high authority" with having had "no small part in creating that public sentiment which alone made possible the results which the international conference on limitation of armaments made achieved." Robert E. Speer is president of the council.

The report represented the council as convinced that its work in behalf of Christian international relations "must go on with unabated energy until war has been outlawed." The proposed declaration of international ideals follows:

"We believe that nations no less than individuals are subject to God's immutable moral laws.

"We believe that nations achieve true welfare, greatness and honor only through just dealing and unselfish service.

"We believe that nations that regard themselves as Christians have special international obligations.

"We believe that the spirit of Christian brotherhood can remove every barrier of trade, color, creed and race.

"We believe that Christian patriotism demands the practice of good-will between nations.

"We believe that international politics should secure equal justice for all races.

"We believe that all nations should associate themselves permanently for world peace and good-will.

"We believe in international law, and in the universal use of international courts of justice and boards of arbitration.

"We believe in a sweeping reduction of armaments by all nations.

"We believe in a warless world, and dedicate ourselves to its achievement."

The council also reported the creation of a commission on the church and race relations and of a committee on mercy and relief. The report states that in several of the larger cities "the pastors have been brought into conference with Christian employers and employees to consider the application of Christian principles to industrial life, and to promote co-operation between the parties to industry in the place of self-seeking and strife;" that a research department on the relations of the church to social questions has been developed, and that the work of engineers and other industrial experts has been interpreted and made available through a fortnightly information service.

"More than any other year," the report asserted, "the evangelistic mission of the church has been at the heart of the council's activities. The co-operation of the evangelistic agencies of the denominations in the commission on evangelism has been more hearty and complete than ever before."

The report recorded "steady and solid gain in the development of the co-operative work of the Protestant churches."

REGRET, BUT UNDERSTAND

ROME, May 18.—The Italian press is sympathetic with the American point of view toward the proposed conference at The Hague, although the American decision is regretted.

"Another reason for optimism has vanished," says the Messaggero, "although we cannot see how American intervention could have helped. America does not want to recognize Russia, and Secretary Hughes distinguished plainly between the Russian people and the Government, giving to the former heartfelt sympathy and to the latter only silence."

The tempo, after justifying the American official viewpoint, says: "It is more than probable that America which remained outside the Genoa conference, will do nothing to compromise or injure that at The Hague."

Paternity and Divorce Case Up to Referee in Three Weeks After Exchange of Briefs—Confident of the Outcome.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The hearings in the Stillman divorce and paternity case were marked "closed" yesterday by Referee Gleason in Poughkeepsie after John F. Brennan, counsel for Mrs. James A. Stillman, announced that the defense would offer no more evidence. Three weeks are now allowed two hours' session at his home the attorneys' briefs, after which the suit rests in the hands of the referee.

Mr. Brennan's announcement followed a two hours' session at his home No. 190 North Broadway, Yonkers. Present were Mrs. Stillman and her son "Bud" Stillman; Fowler McCormick, whose engagement to the defendant has been reported and denied; former Justice Isaac N. Mills of Mount Vernon, associate counsel, and John E. Mack, of Poughkeepsie, guardian for boy Guy Stillman.

Mrs. Stillman motored up from her home No. 310 Fifth Avenue with "Bud" and Mr. McCormick. She wore a simple black dress and black hat and appeared in good spirits. After the conference Mr. Brennan said Mrs. Stillman would have nothing to say.

"She is entitled to a rest," he declared "and there is really nothing to be said now. We all feel confident of the outcome. The case has been a campaign of hate on the part of Mr. Stillman from the start and has been fought with gold all the way by his lawyers."

"This last achievement of buying alleged letter of Mrs. Stillman for $15,000 has not injured her helplessness, as it shows the anxious back of the suit. Its only object from the first has been to injure Mrs. Stillman. We have not tried to fight on those grounds but we expect to win just the same."

Mr. Brennan said Mrs. Stillman had branded the four letters produced by Mr. Stillman's lawyers at the last hearing as forgeries although admitting that the handwriting looked like hers. These are the letters Edmund Leigh detective testified had been bought from Fred Beauvais in Montreal for $15,000. They are alleged to have been written by Mrs. Stillman to the Indian guide.

Denby Lashes Self To Henderson Mast

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Secretary of the Navy Denby was still standing by his guns today on the trip of the transport Henderson of the Orient again announcing the vessel would sail on schedule with members of the Class of '21 of Annapolis. When the Henderson leaves Hampton Roads she will also have on board 300 enlisted men of the navy, 7 marines and 21 commissioned officers and their families, most of whom will leave the ship at San Diego, Cal., where their places will be taken by other naval personnel bound for the Asiatic station as replacements.

All of the old Annapolis men will pay their own subsistence and not add a dollar to the fleet expense. It is possible that the proposed joint from Nagasaki to Shanghai may be abandoned, since it is not really essential to the regular voyage of the naval transport and has been subject to change from the onset.

The fact developed today that when Senator McCormick (Rep., Ill.) called up his resolution declaring it to be the sense of the Senate that the Henderson should not make the trip, no more than a dozen Senators were on the floor. There was no debate and no record vote. Consequently a question is raised as to whether the resolution can accurately be said to have been passed by the Senate.

RAIN PREVENTS GAME YESTERDAY

Rain again battled in to prevent a baseball game here yesterday and the Danville and Durham teams had another restful day.

This means that Danville will not have a Piedmont league game this week, for the Tobaccoers left last night for Winston-Salem, where they are scheduled for a two-game set with Clancy's Athletics. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, however, will be a busy time for the Danville team, as they will play here on Monday and Tuesday, and then come up from Durham to take the Athletics for two days. The Danville team will finish the next week at Raleigh.

Schaefer's high run was 115, average 35 10-14. Cochran's high was 166, average 31 11-13.

Records Broken
In Contributions
To Home Missions

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 18.—Records of 56 years were broken in the contributions of the last year to Southern Presbyterian home missions, which amounted to $543,121, were the largest in the history of the executive committee of home missions, according to the report of the committee to the Southern Presbyterial general assembly here. This amount exceeded that received the year previous by $75,594.

French Engineer Falls
Out of Cab and Delays
Passengers for America

CHERBOURG, France, May 18.—The engineer of the locomotive of the express train bringing passengers here for embarkation on the steamers President Taft and Resolute fell out of the car window today. The fireman had to stop the train and back up until the engineer was found.

The journey to Cherbourg was then resumed with the badly injured engineer directing the train at the throttle. The train was two hours late, but, nevertheless, it arrived in time for the passengers to catch their respective steamers for New York. In consequence of the delay there was much anxiety among the passengers.

New Movement
Wins Approval

DES MOINES, Ia., May 18.—Without some such enterprise as the New Era Movement, which was launched in 1918 as a church extension program, missionary and educational enterprises of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America (north) would have been utterly unable to continue their work, according to the report of the committee on the movement. The report submitted to the general assembly of the church here today, also declared that "during that brief period of years when the cost of doing business has steadily been mounting, it is significant that the receipts of our missionary and benevolence agencies should practically have doubled."

The report summarized achievements of the movement as follows: "The ingathering of souls, the increase in the number of family altars, the development of stewardship plans and activities, the setting of goals by individual churches for their work, the increase of the organized work of the men of the church, the rapid development of religious education, the inspiring advance in the number of young men and young women enlisting as whole-time religious workers, the ten million dollar gain in congregational income, the practical doubling of the benevolence budget of the church, and last, but not least, the unprecedented increase in the program of Presbyterian evangelism, culminating in the Easter ingathering, are all evidences that while the goals have not been fully realized, they have not been forgotten."

New
Columbia
RecordsWhat is there
about that tune?

SOME dance records "get" you instantly. You can't resist them. Is it the rhythm or the particular band that is playing, or the mechanical perfection of the record itself? It is all of these things combined that make Columbia Records the records for dancing.

If you doubt that the New Process Columbia Records are different, compare them with others. Dance to the same tune played on different records—you'll pick Columbia "in jig time."

The dancing millions of America know what is what, and Columbia Records are the popular choice of the nation. Ask the dance "fans"; look in a Columbia Dealer's place when the new records are released.

Sit down in the store of a Columbia Dealer and see if you can keep your feet still when the new dance records are being played to you. There is no obligation to buy, and the Columbia Dealer will always be glad to see you.

C. D. GITT DIES HERE YESTERDAY

Announcement of the death of C. D. Gitt, for something like thirty years a resident of Danville and widely known and esteemed, which occurred yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock at his residence on Thomas street, came as a surprise and shock to almost all who knew him. Death was the result of a sudden paralytic stroke which unexpectedly developed yesterday morning about 9 o'clock. Despite anything that medical science could do to arrest it, paralysis quickly extended to the vital organs and death ensued before many were even aware of his illness.

Mr. Gitt had attended the mid-week service at the Moffett Memorial Baptist church, of which he had been an original member, on Wednesday night and during the service he had offered a prayer which was commented upon by some of those who heard it as being noteworthy for its brevity and tenderness. Few anticipated that ere another sunset his life would be sealed in the silence men call death.

A native of southwestern Virginia and member of a well known family, Mr. Gitt engaged in the business of pharmacist and for many years conducted a drugstore in North Danville. There for many years he continued to serve the people of the community and became personally known to thousands and intimately so to many. Of the kindly, gentle, amiable type, he won many friends by his manner and his ministrations. Some years ago he disposed of his interest in the pharmacy and became a resident of Danville. He had long conducted but since that time he has been employed almost continuously in various other pharmacies of this city. He was a competent and careful man in his work and his services were in demand. Recently his health had not been as good as for many years before and he had not sought continuous work.

Mr. Gitt had never sought office, but as a good citizen he felt and manifested a keen interest in the government of the city in which he had so long made his home. He served for some time as a school trustee and had always felt an interest in education. He was devoted and active in his church duties and responsibilities.

High School Play At The Majestic

The Danville High School players will present "A Struggle for Life" at the Majestic theatre tonight at 8.15 o'clock. Thirteen boys and girls of the senior class make up the cast.

The play is a farce-comedy, with one funny scene following another in rapid succession, so fast, indeed, that members of the audience may expect to depart breathless and with aching sides from so much laughing.

Not only will there be plenty of laughs but for those inclined toward romance there is a love scene, or several, that should go a long way to appeasing such appetites.

The play is under the direction of Mr. Henry Leigh.

The program follows:

AFTER HAYNES' OFFICIAL SCALP

The accompanying picture shows (above) Major Roy A. Haynes, United States prohibition commissioner, and (below) the Hon. John P. Hill, congressman from Maryland, who has demanded that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon remove Haynes from office. If investigation proves that he approved a threat to burn the home of a convicted liquor law violator, in the event of a repetition of his offense.

Hill quotes a bulletin given out by Haynes' office for newspaper publication in which Judge A. J. Curran of Pittsburg, Kans., is credited with uttering the warning to Charles Chausard.

The congressman says this constitutes an official approval of "lynch law." If Haynes did not sanction the threat, then Hill wants removal of the subordinate official responsible for the bulletin.

Belgian Girl Spy Breaks Alien Ban

NEW YORK, May 17—Miss Laure Galle, 28-year-old Belgian girl spy and fiancée of Camille Asp, whom she met while she was a nurse in a French hospital, has won her fight against deportation by having the Belgian quota revised. She left Ellis Island yesterday morning in the company of her fiancé and went directly to the Municipal building, where a marriage license was taken out.

Pressure upon immigration officials in Washington by members of the diplomatic corps and friends of the bridegroom, resulted in a telegram from Commissioner Husband yesterday morning saying there had been an error in computing the quota of immigrants allotted to Belgium. Three per cent of the total number of Belgians living in America in 1930 had been computed without counting those who live in Alaska and Porto Rico. Three per cent of these additional Belgians is six. The port has been closed to natives of Belgium for several months. Now they will have to be reprocessed for five more immigrants besides Miss Galle.

The girl was decorated by King Albert for bravery in connection with a Belgian officer in the attic of the hotel owned by her father in Lille. He remained and worked throughout the German occupation and in spite of repeated search, she also is a woman have thrown a bottle in the face of a German officer who attempted to insult her. She spent two years in German prison, and once escaped execution through the coming of the armistice.

M. Asp, whose occupation appears on the marriage license as "exporter," gave his address as "Huguenot, Danville, State Island." They declared their intention of being married at once.

They came to this country from South Africa on the Santa Teresa about a week ago. Asp was admitted at once and has been working night and day for the release of his fiancée. They were not married in Buenos Ayres because of red tape.

Engineer Students Not Enthusiastic

BOSTON, May 17—Results of the questionnaire filled out by Massachusetts Institute of Technology seniors show that 60 per cent of those who are soon to graduate do not expect to take up engineering after graduation. Most of them are decidedly emphatic in their answers to this question and "Never" and "Hell, no" were the most popular answers.

The average salary expected after graduation is $1,300. After five years the average Tech man expects to earn $2,000, and after 10 years $3,000. One student answered, "After graduation, enough for one, after five years, enough for two, after 10 years enough for six."

About 15 per cent of the 65 women admitted or confessed they had never kissed a girl. One man labored his conquest. He said "Flippers, 2,743, girl's, 13."

If the questionnaires are on the level, practically every Tech man drinks anything he can get in an answer to a question, "What do you drink?" one man answered, "I often wonder."

The most popular study seems to be women, according to the answers. One of the questions was "Whom shall we marry in case of a disaster?" One young man replied, "I never." Another insisted Bobo Dan should be told the sad news. Others pleaded that their favorite bootleggers be notified.

AUGUSTA BIRDS PITCHER

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 18—The Augusta management tonight announced the purchase of pitcher Joe Mathews, a southpaw, from the Baltimore International League. He will report to the Augusta team in Columbia.

Thousands of game birds were needlessly destroyed every season at Las Vegas, Nev., by oil discharged on waters frequented by the birds, but the Union Pacific railway has remedied this condition.

DIKES BRANCH, May 19.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—Here is a Modern Fable: Once upon a time a naturalist divided his aquarium with a clear glass partition. He put a lusty bass in one section and minnows in the other. The bass struck every time a minnow approached the glass partition. After three days of fruitless lunging, which netted him only bruises he ceased his efforts and subsisted on the food that was dropped into the water.

Then the naturalist removed the glass partition. The minnows swam all around the bass but he did not strike at a single one. He had been too busy on the idea that business was bad.

The Wise Virgin
(From The Ticker)

Long ago the wise virgins arose trimmed their lamps, took oil in their vessels and went forth to meet the bridegroom. When the bridegroom came, they were ready.

Today, the wise virgins drop a little belladonna into their lamps, trim their eyebrows to a thin line, darken their lashes with a lotion, and also go forth to meet a bridegroom.

But when the prospective bridegroom comes, they keep him waiting a half hour or so, just to make them seem harder to get.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
After five years of married life, LUCINDA DRUCE, New York society matron, concluded that wealth, youth, beauty, social position and the things which were not sufficient to hold the affection of her husband.

BELLAMY DRUCE, weak-willed and selfish, had been guilty of a series of escapades in which he had combined to humiliate his wife.

A broken promise to reform caused Lucinda to leave him. Bellamy followed her to Chicago and is presently venting his frustrated passion on her from going to Reno by the intervention of an unidentified young man.

On the train, Lucinda meets her old friend, FANNY LONTAINE, who with her husband is going to Hollywood, where

HARRY LONTAINE is thinking of forming a motion picture company. She learns that the young man who assisted her in escaping from Bellamy is also on the train and that he is

LYNN SUMMERLAD, a prominent screen star.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
Seated in Section 10, waiting for the porter to bring back his personal impediments from the drawing room, Harry Lontaine turned a handsome face to the window, frowning absently, the nervous frown of a man whose cleverness has never proved quite equal to the task of satisfying appetites at once strong and fastidious.

From this delectable realm the dreamer was recalled by consciousness of somebody standing in the aisle and staring imperiously. Lontaine was too diligent a student of motion-pictures not to know at sight the features of Lynn Summerlad, by long odds the most popular male star of the American cinema.

Misreading his expression, Mr. Summerlad felt called upon to apologize.

"Beg your pardon, but I was expecting to find a lady in this section. I may say a friend, Mr. Druce. Do you by any chance—"

LYNN SUMMERLAD made a fourth at the bridge table set up that afternoon in the Lontaine drawing room; invited by Lontaine as an acquaintance of Lucinda's, and a grateful addition to the party because he played something better than merely a good game. He looked at her "fearfully easy to lock at" as Fanny called to Lucinda but fair spoken and well, if at times a shade carefully mannered, he was intelligent and ready of wit.

By nightfall of the second day it was possible for Lucinda to make up her mind that she liked Lynn Summerlad. True that he was not of her world; but then neither was she herself, any longer, in this anomalous stage of the apostate wife, neither wife nor widow, not even honest divorcee.

If Summerlad's character as she read it had faults, if an occasional crudity flawed his finish, these things were held to be condonable in view of his youth. He seemed ridiculously young to Lucinda but sure to improve with age, sure to take on polish from rubbing up against life. Especially if he were so fortunate as to find the right woman to watch over and advise him. An interesting job, for the right woman—

Not (she assured herself hastily) that it would be a job to interest her. An absurd turn of mind, she knew. Why she had wasted time on it she really didn't know. Unless, of course, its incentive had lain in consciousness of Summerlad's naive overlook that. He was so artless about it, boyish, and well-nice. It was most entertaining.

It was also, if truth would out, far from displeasing.

"I've got a great favor to beg of you, Mr. Summerlad," said Lucinda as they sat alone on the observation platform one evening. "Can't make it too great."

"Fanny and I were discussing it this morning. Bellamy Druce—sure to follow me to Los Angeles and make more scenes. I'd like to avoid that, if I can. Help me choose a good, safe nom de guerre, please."

"Let's see, Mrs. Lontaine calls you Cindy."
"Short for Lucinda."
"How about Lee? Lucinda Lee?"
"I like that. But it does sound like the movies, doesn't it?"
"What do you expect of a movie actor, Mrs. Druce?"
"Mrs. Lee, please."

"Beg pardon, Mrs. Lee."
And it was as Lucinda Lee that she registered the next morning at the Hotel Alexandria in Los Angeles.

On the afternoon of their arrival, Lucinda, accompanied by Summerlad and the Lontaines, went to the Zinn studios, where the famous Summerlad pictures were taken.

The working premises lay behind the administration building. But here Lucinda noted few points of close resemblance to the Culp studios. A field several acres in extent, about half in turf, was surrounded by a stable village of glass-roofed stages and structures housing the technical and mechanical departments—a laboratory, a costumer's property, carpenter and scene-painting shops, directors' offices, dressing rooms, and cutting rooms, a garage, sheds to shelter motor-cars and trucks by the score, stables, a small menagerie, a huge tank for "water stuff," a moonlight fireproof vault of cement for the storage of film.

"Well, Mrs. Lee, what do you think of a California studio? Not much like what you've seen back east, eh?"

"It is most marvelous. If there're all like this, I don't wonder people are mad to act in motion-pictures. If Mr. Culp had promised me anything like this, I don't believe I should have had the courage to refuse."

"It's not too late to change your mind, Mrs. Lee," Lontaine suggested. "In fact, if I thought there was any hope you would, I'd go down on my knees to you. Oh, not to act for Culp, but for me; or rather, for yourself, as the head and star of your own company. No, I'm serious. I've been talking with several people today who want me to try producing out here. I can get unlimited capital to back me. This country is crying for better pictures—and I know how to make them. Can bring to the American cinema the one thing it needs, a thorough knowledge of European methods. There's only one thing makes me hesitate, the lack of a suitable star."

"Why pick on me?" Lucinda laughed. "I'm not even an actress."

"Ah! you forget I've seen you prove on the screen what you can do. You don't know yourself, Mrs. Lee. You need only two things to make you great, a good director, and self-confidence."

"Aren't you running a great risk, making such flattering overtures to an untried, unknown amateur?"
"Don't worry about me. If I had any hope of being able to persuade you to try it on, I'd tell you to name your own terms, and shoulder the risk without a murmur."

Lontaine's earnestness was so real that one might no longer meet his arguments with levity. There was a strained look of anxiety in the blue eyes, a restraining passion of pleading in the ordinarily languid accents.

Fanny, too, was apparently hanging between hope and fear.

And the thought revived that had once or twice presented itself, the suspicion that all was not as it seemed in the Lontaine fortune, strengthening the surmise that Lucinda's decision meant more to them both than Lontaine had confessed.

Still one hesitated to believe. . . .
"But you can't be serious! Do you really want me to become a movie actress under your management?"
"You can't think of anything I wouldn't do to persuade you."

"Why not, Mrs. Lee?" Summerlad urged. "It would be great fun for you; and you can't fail, you can't lose anything. If you only knew how inferior most stars are to you in every way."

"And if you should fail, Cindy, Fanny chimed in—"what does it matter? Who would know? It wouldn't be you, it would be Lucinda Lee."

"No," Lontaine insisted. "I've got a better screen name than that for her. Not Lucinda; Linda Lee."

"Come, Mrs. Lee, say you'll try it on, if only for the lark of it."

"If I should, Mr. Summerlad, it wouldn't be for fun."

"So much the better,"
"Then you will?" Lontaine persisted. "Do say yes."

"Let me think . . ."
And why not? Lucinda asked herself. She was alone in the world, lonely but for these good friends who needed her help. It would be good fun, it would be interesting, it would satisfy a need of which she had been discontentedly aware even in the days when she had yet to dream of leaving Bellamy. And even as Fanny had argued—if she should fail and have to give it up, who would care what had become of "Linda Lee?"

"Very well," she said at length, with an uncertain smile—"suppose we try."

XVII
TO tomorrow's morning star of the screen, Linda Lee!

Thus Lynn Summerlad, mildly exalted, graceful and gracious even beyond his studied habit, flourishing a glass of California champagne above the dinner table in his bungalow at Beverly Hills.

The toast went by acclamation and Lucinda laughed, at once gratified, diverted, and disposed to deprecate the spirit of these felicitations as premature.

A phrase of Culp's recurred unbidden: "A lot of kids, that's what we got to make pitchers with, a lot of kids."

It was childish, in a way; on the other hand, it was undeniably a pleasant to think of oneself as a young girl waiting to be awakened to vivid life by one wave of the witching wand and self-confidence.

Summerlad had been talking of his early screen experiences and flashed an apologetic smile. "One of the worst faults of movie actors," he said, "is that they are not serious."

Mrs. Lee, in talking about our salaries. So I won't say any more than this: outside of the Big Four—Mary and Doug and Charlie and Bill Hart—there's mighty few that drag down as much green money a week as I do."

"I'm glad to abrogate you of the sin of boasting, Mr. Summerlad."

"I suppose that did sound funny."

"You wouldn't guess who my first engagement: Barry Nolan?"

The name was apparently known to Lontaine, for he exclaimed: "You mean Mr. N?" as if no more exciting information had come to his ears in many days.

As for his life record, his most notorious delinquency was his arrest, charged with killing "Moose" J. Wright, a rival labor leader. When the case came to trial the witness had vanished. At present he is under six years' federal sentence for conspiracy in the $300,000 Oliverborn trial racket.

In other cases he has been required to stand in the stocks, or in custody before his case came to trial.

UP TO MOTHER TO KEEP HER BABY'S MILK PURE

CERTIFIED MILK HELPS A BABY HOLD HIS SPINE ERECT

BY MRS. MAX WEST, Late of the United States Children's Bureau

SOME wise person once remarked that the most important thing that goes into the baby's bottle is the good sense of the mother. The milk may be of the purest when it leaves the dairy, but if it stands on a sunny doorstep for an hour or two, or waits in a hot kitchen while the mother goes to market, or is left in an open dish for flies to fall into, it will not be fit to give the baby.

Milk is an extremely delicate article, and is the favorite food of certain little cells that are capable of making great trouble for the baby, once they get inside him. They love milk of a milk temperature and when they find it they grow and multiply with amazing rapidity.

On the other hand, they are greatly discouraged either by cold or heat. Therefore, the first law of the care of milk should be "keep it very cold." It should be chilled before it leaves the dairy. Then it should be kept chilled until it is delivered at the house.

After that the mother must play her part. The milk should be taken in the moment it is delivered, and put at once on the ice. If there is no ice, it should be put in running water, or under folds of cheesecloth, the ends of which are in a pan of water which stands in an open window.

Every mother who has to do without ice in summer should have an iceless refrigerator. These are readily made at home if someone is clever with a hammer and a saw, and they cost so little that certainly at least every family in which there is a baby should have one.

Properly made and used, this convenience will keep milk quite cold enough for summer, even in very hot weather, and will save a world of anxiety about sour or bad milk. Write to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for directions for making.

Following any of these, the milk should be boiled. This is always the counsel of prudence in the hottest weather. The baby is not likely to suffer from any possible bad effect of boiled milk for a few days, and will probably be much better off than he will if fed upon contaminated milk of any sort. In still other cases, it may be best to resort to dried milk. If the quality of the fresh supply available is dubious, dried milk, under various trade names, may be had in drug stores.

NEARLY QUARTER MILLION ACRES LAND FLOODED

NEW ORLEANS, May 18.—Two hundred and seventeen thousand acres of improved farm lands in ten Louisiana parishes of May 15 were covered with flood waters running through the three crevasses in the Mississippi levees at Ferriday, Fordas and Myrtle Grove, according to estimates announced today by L. L. Jones, agricultural statistician of the United States bureau of markets and crop estimates. In his first official report of crop damage and acreage affected in the flood territory.

The report declared that the figures are "preliminary and subject to revision" and do not take into account the effects of the Hamburg and Angola crevasses.

Of the total acreage inundated 143,945 acres were bearing crops at the time the flood spread over them, the report stated. Practically the whole of Concordia, and sections of Calhoun, Tensas, Rapides, Ayoelles, La-Salle, St. Martin, Franklin, St. Bernard and Plaquemine parishes are included in the flooded area.

Mr. Jones declared that no accurate estimate of the amount of financial loss through crop damage and destruction was available.

In the area affected by the three breaks cotton, corn, hay, potatoes, sugar cane and vegetables are the principal products. Cotton acreage considered a total loss covers an area of 65,922 acres, all in the path of the Ferriday flood.

Mr. Jones also gave out figures contained in a letter from Joseph C. Logan, temporary secretary of the west Mississippi flood committee, to Governor Russell of that State, stating that 10,400 persons were in need of help as a result of the flood in Mississippi and that 14,000 eventually would have to be cared for.

Barbed Wire Fails To Stop Liquor Raid

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 17.—The police here have captured a fifteen-gallon copper still in an outhouse of a negro home, which was enclosed in a yard with high wire fence topped with barbed wire and in which a big bulldog was kept. The still was at work at the time of the raid and a gallon and a half of peach brandy and 120 gallons of ash were captured. Will Simons and his wife, Lena, and Mack McCoy, all colored, were arrested in connection with the raid and bailed in $350 for appearance later for trial.

C., on Friday, Frank Shumaker, who came to this State several weeks ago from Pittsburgh, Pa., in connection with large aluminum interests, accidentally shot and killed himself. The coroners decided that no inquest was necessary.

Leviathan Harbor Is Sought Abroad

United States Would Control Berth at Cuxhaven as German Port for Huge Ship.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The United States Shipping Board has initiated steps looking to a better working arrangement between the United States Lines and the North German Lloyd Company and for the development of permanent American shipping facilities at German ports.

W. J. Love, Vice President of the Emergency Corporation, Fleet in charge of traffic, will sail for Europe on this mission next Saturday. One week later T. H. Rosbottom, General Manager of the United States Lines; Alfred E. Clegg of the Roosevelt Steamship Company, and E. J. McCormack of Moore & McCormack, will sail to join Mr. Love on the other side.

The American shipping experts also will see to make arrangements for handling the reconditioned Leviathan on the other side when she enters service next spring. The Leviathan cannot enter the Harbor of Bremen or Hamburg. As the Viceroy was controlled by the Hamburg-American Line, just who controls the Port of Cuxhaven now is not definitely known here.

At present the United States Lines have a day by day working agreement with the North German Lloyd, which is costing the Shipping Board a lot of money. A more permanent arrangement satisfactory to both sides is desired. In addition it is proposed if possible, to establish permanent independent facilities for American ships.

Feeling here seems to be that the present North German Lloyd charges are excessive. The experts going abroad will seek to determine the facts in this connection. The North German Lloyd receives a commission on business moving in either direction between Bremen and New York, the arrangement being entered into temporarily, following the smashing of the United States Mail Line.

Was Not 'Unfrocked' Is Minister's Claims

DENVER, Colo., May 18.—The G. C. Richmond, former minister of Evanston, Wyo., today denied the statement published that he had been "unfrocked" by Bishop N. S. Thomas, of the Episcopal church in Wyoming. Mr. Richmond declared, in speaking of the happening, before he left Evanston, Wyo., that he had been so active in reform work and in fighting the liquor and gambling interests there that he had been assaulted and mobbed and that he had been requested to give up his parish by these interests and to leave Evanston. He also said that because of his work and bitter utterances against the violations of the law Bishop Thomas finally had requested him to give up his church at Evanston.

"There is a great difference between being 'unfrocked' and vacating a pastorate," he declared.

"I was removed from the pastorate because of the strength of the light that I put into my campaign against vice. I know of no place where I have been considered a sin for a minister to fight the vices of drinking and gambling."

OFFERS RUSSIAN PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The negotiation of a "receiver's certificate" for one or two billions of dollars by the Russian Government was suggested by Senator Joseph I. France, of Maryland, in an address today before the Washington Advertising Club as the proper procedure for the re-entry of that Government into the money markets of the world. Senator France said that the United States should send a commission to Russia to conduct negotiations, and "if these are satisfactory" should recognize the Soviet regime and aid its financial recovery.

The proceeds of the proposed loan, Mr. France said, could be used to purchase seeds, food and machinery in the United States, which are necessary to the recovery of Russian industries, and through these of her exports.

Lady Astor's Novel "Tuck-A-Dunt" Taken To Be Virginia Kid Talk

NEW YORK, May 17.—Experts agree that Lady Astor, in puzzling Chicago and incidentally all the United States Monday by asserting she didn't give a "tuck-a-dunt" for an unintelligent woman, was giving us a sample of her mother tongue.

The British disavows the word. The word is unknown to Americans at large. Virginia is suspected, but without evidence to convict. If you wander into the derivatives the Century Dictionary will inform you that "tuck" may be the beating, as of a drum, and "dunt" a "stroke" or a "blow."

"We take it," said the British Consul General's Office over the telephone when consulted by a New York newspaper reporter yesterday, "that as we have never heard it before, and as no one knows anything about it, this expression is just a funny little word, such as one might use to a child in a language exclusive to the family."

"As has been suggested by some of the papers it seems to be used in a sense equivalent to 'a tinker's dam,' which with the Americans as with the British means, 'I don't care a hang.' But 'a tinker's dam' would be the ordinary British usage."

Women all over the city were hunting authorities and even exploring the latest recorded fashionable slang for guidance. Women thought it was "too perfectly cute," but just how far must you compromise yourself if you didn't give a "tuck-a-dunt"? It was terribly confusing.

Some one remembered that it was considered smart in London to drop one's g's and quite with a fad with the wealthy set. That sounded like a clue. The Viscountess of the Commons drops her g's adorably, but heretofore it has been credited to her Southern accent.

"I wouldn't venture to guess its meaning, but it sounds like Virginia," said Mrs. Burt Hanson, treasurer of the Manhattan Borough League of Women Voters.

"I haven't the least idea what it means," declared Mrs. Frank J. Shuler, one of the officers of the National League of Women Voters at whose invitation Lady Astor crossed the water to attend the Pan-American Conference. "But no matter what it means isn't Lady Astor clever to set the whole country agog with a little word like that—genius I call it."

But it is a gamble that the "funny little word that one might use to a child," a possible slip from the mother-tongue, a British-American, M. E. uses to her kiddies will be a perfectly good American before the week is out and that nobody will give a "tuck-a-dunt."

LADY ASTOR ADMITS LIKING FOR "BY HECK"

CHICAGO, May 17.—Lady Astor added to her vocabulary today: "Don't give a tuppenny dump" and "By heck."

"I lived with the soldiers at our hospital at Chivenden and I must have picked up some of their slang," she explained. "I remember talking to Lord Balfour one time and saying I did not like a certain person. He asked me why not. I answered: 'Because he's got no guts.'"

"Naturally he looked at me in amazement. The English never understand what 'by heck' means either, and that is another of my favorite expressions. Frequently I found myself pronouncing 'Ypres Wipers.' All the Tommies call it that."

Lady Astor is on her way to Toronto, but "tuck-a-dunt" is not a mystery to several to whom she confided an explanation. "Tuck-a-dunt" is a reversal of "tinker's dam" in such a form that it can be used without the force of the old expression. She used it in expressing her own idea of the unintelligent woman.

Found Mammoth Tooth

SALEM, Ind., May 18.—A mammoth tooth, belonging to some monster of prehistoric times was found recently in the northwestern part of Washington county, on White River, mussel diggers.

The tooth is in a good state of preservation. The crown is about six inches in diameter and the roots about seven inches long.

The course of White river, near Sparksville, where the tooth was found has a gradually changing, exposing earth status that have been covered for centuries. A number of relics of prehistoric days have been found in the course, but this is the first specimen that has been found in this immediate vicinity.

The tooth molar has been treated with a preservative and placed in the museum of the Washington County Historical Society.

The Y. W. C. A. will observe Grace H. Dodge Day Sunday, May 21st. A special program has been prepared. The public is cordially invited.

Greensboro Has Building Boom

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 19.—Greensboro is in the midst of the biggest building and construction boom that the city has ever known.

More building is going on now and will continue to go on for the next 12 or 18 months than at any other time since the original inhabitant pitched his tent. It extends to every kind of construction work, to public buildings, to stores, garages and small houses, to churches, to the schools and colleges, to street paving, to water works and sewerage extension and construction, and above all to homes.

What the building boom is going to amount to in dollars this year is impossible to forecast. Last year permits for nearly $2,000,000 worth of building were issued by the city. Real estate men in the city will tell you today, after thoughtful consideration with pen and paper, that the figures for the corporate limits alone may run well over $5,000,000 and probably $6,000,000. This does not count street paving amounting to something like $750,000, nor the possibility of the Southern passenger station being started in 1922, another $1,000,000 project in round numbers.

Harris Hart Will Be Married On June 21

RICHMOND, Va., May 18.—Harris Hart, State superintendent of public instruction, and Miss Mayola Gillespie, of Tazewell, Va., will be married June 21st. Miss Gillespie is a sister-in-law of George C. Peery, Democratic nominee for congress in the Ninth district, and is a descendant of a prominent Southwest Virginia family.

After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hart will make their home on West avenue, this city. Mr. Hart is a native of Richmond, but has lived several years in Roanoke. He is now serving his second term as head of the Virginia school system. Mr. Hart is one of the few State high officials who is a bachelor, and the announcement of his approaching wedding has brought a flood of congratulations.

It is planned by women members of the church to sell every egg that is laid by their hens Sundays toward erection of the building.

NORFOLK MAN KILLED IN NEWPORT NEWS AUTO CRASH

NORFOLK, Va., May 18.—A. A. Miller, Lovitt avenue, Brambleton, was killed and R. T. Etheridge, 1027 Leckie street, Portsmouth, sustained severe injuries when the latter's automobile plunged over a six-foot embankment at the south end of Jefferson street in Newport News last night at 11:05 o'clock. L. L. Reynolds, 1929, Effingham street, Portsmouth, also were injured, but it is believed, not seriously.

The four men had attended a meeting of the Improved Order of Red Men and were on their way to the ferry landing when the accident occurred. Etheridge, who was driving, told the Newport News authorities that he was unfamiliar with the streets in that city and that in his hurry to reach the landing before the last boat left for Sewells Point he turned into Washington, instead of Jefferson, street, and was driving at about fifteen miles an hour when he realized his danger. His efforts to avert the plunge were unsuccessful. Miller, who was seated in front with the driver, was hurled through the windshield. His throat was cut by the broken glass. The injured were rushed to a hospital where the elder Reynolds collapsed from shock. Miller died two minutes after reaching the hospital.

An inquest will be held in Newport News this morning by Coroner B. R. Gary. The survivors of this wreck were taken to their homes at Portsmouth early this morning.

Plane Delivers Jersey Produce To Boston Diners

FRAMINGHAM, Mass., May 18.—Arrival at the army field here this afternoon, of a big five-passenger airplane carrying 1,000 pounds of vegetables gathered in New Jersey gardens this morning made possible service of those vegetables for dinner in Boston homes tonight.

The plane, piloted by William N. De Wald, formerly of the 121st Pursuit Squadron, U. S. A., in forces, covered the 450 miles in five hours actual flying time, during which the pilot and he bucked a 45 mile an hour head wind most of the way.

The plane left Hüllica Hill, N. J., at 9 o'clock this morning, and arrived here at 3 o'clock this afternoon, having stopped an hour at Hempstead, L. I.

Major W. J. Schaeffer, formerly of the air service, was a passenger.

Confession Leads To 7 Arrests In Postoffice Thefts

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 19.—Seven post-office clerks were arrested today in connection with the million and half dollar theft from the mails last July following a confession by Mark Voneschen.

MANY ARTISTS IN CAST OF
"GEORGE FITZMAURICE'S
PRODUCTION "FOREVER"

One of the most elaborate and thrilling motion pictures produced in many months is "Forever," a George Fitzmaurice production for Paramount, starring Elsie Ferguson and Wallace Reid, which will be the feature de-luxe at the theatre for two days beginning Monday next.

Headed by the stars named, the cast in this photoplay is the most imposing ever gathered for a Paramount picture with the possible exception of "The Affairs of Anatol." Elton Dextter, Montagu Love, George Fawcett and Paul McAllister play the principle supporting male roles. The two female parts, next in importance to the "Duchess of Towers," which is Elsie Ferguson's role, are played by Barbara Dean and Dolores Cassinelli.

A half dozen or more youngsters are seen in the first part of the picture. Little George Pasquiere, who grows up to be "Peter Ibbetson," is played by Charles Eaton, eight years old. Neil Buck, an eight-year-old edition of Elsie Ferguson, is "Miss," the little girl who becomes the "Duchess of Towers" later in the story.

The opening scenes for the picture were filmed in a most artistic setting—a French garden at Passy, a suburb of Paris. All four seasons of the year are shown in the garden, opening with the Springtime.

Danville Musical

Yes, Danville is a very musical city. The way people are buying popular and standard songs at Frix's is surely proof. Their sheet music department is a very busy one all the year round. They supply the Danville music teachers and those a hundred miles away.

Mr. John Westbrook, Jr.

Has a large class learning to play small instruments. He is helping to make Danville more musical. Why not get him to teach you to play the guitar, mandolin, or the saxophone. See him at Frix's. Instruments will be supplied on easy terms, also arrange for lessons. It's almost a sin to grow up without learning to play some instrument. You can learn in four or five weeks.

Baby Grand Pianos.

Every lover of the piano wants a Baby Grand whether she ever gets it or not. A good many are now buying them. We can allow a fair and liberal price for your upright in exchange for a beautiful Fischer or Lester or Kimball and arrange extremely liberal terms. Ask for particulars. Step in at Frix's and see a beautiful Lester Baby Grand in the new brown mahogany.

Everything Musical

At Frix's. It's a music department store where anything musical can be obtained. You are always welcome.

Costs

Farming, like every other business, must cut down the overhead.

It is not a question of being able to afford a Fordson; it is a question of being able to continue farming on the old too-costly basis.

The farmer's problem is not all a sales problem; it is also a production problem. He must cut down the cost of production.

The Fordson does more work at a lower cost and in less time than the old hand methods.
